BOARD OF TRADE TO ASSIST SALVATION ARMY

A board of Trade meeting will be held tonight at which many things will be discussed. One of the main items on the agenda will be the appointing of a committee to co-operate with the Salvation Army in their drive for funds. It will be the duty of this committee to make a thorough canvass of the town and vicinity.

As the country will not be canvassed it would be greatly appreciated if those who live there and wish to contribute to this cause would make their donations in the free will offering boxes that are to be found in the bank and in the office of the Board's president, Mr. Sutermeister.

The Salvation Army of Canada is working constantly among the Canadian troops—contributing to the physical comforts of the men, supplying them with a bit of tinned food when they want it, and a cup of hot coffee or tea; affording them some comfortable meeting and gathering place; under wholesome instruction in the Christian influence; providing writing material and places to write letters with ever-ready answers to questions that they write home. A quiet sanctuary is provided where men may enter into communion with their God; the kindly presence and view of an experienced Salvation Army officer for the man who needs a counsellor; a hostel service for men on leave who needs a clean bed at a very reasonable price, if he cares to pay. These are just a few of the Salvation Army's morale-building services to our soldiers abroad and in Canada.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

(By Dan E. Campbell)

244 women's groups in Alberta have taken correspondence courses sponsored by the Extension Branch of the provincial department of agriculture. It was revealed last week. Three courses of four lessons were offered, these being "How to Buy", "Bug Making" and "Foods, Health and Nutrition".

First lesson was delivered on December 1st, and the remaining assignments have been mailed on the first day of each month since. The lessons provided program material for many groups during the winter months, and the department's work has led to hopes that follow up work may be provided for during the summer for guiding groups.

Ladies also give their attention to 18 short courses in various subjects of agricultural interest. Work of the Women's Extension is receiving a good measure of approval, it is stated, and as funds permit it will be broadened to cover more diversity of interests in farm and community life.

General election apportionment for the impending contest in Alberta is $10,000, it was stated. This sum has been provided to cover all contingencies, but in all likelihood it will be all used. The apportionment for rural areas are receiving 10 cents a name and in the cities, five cents a name. Meantime, plans for the election are completed by the department of finance under Robert Anderson, clerk of the assembly, who is chief elector for the province. At the end of the week, the majority of ballot boxes containing instructions to returning officers had been forwarded to Alberta districts.

Finland social workers invited Edmontonians to assist the little country Saturday, and by means of tag mailing, raised $1,800, a generous response when compared with the average tag day receipts. Simultaneously plans for the Salvation Army's appeal for funds to carry on general and social welfare work among soldiers were launched.

Alberta will continue to pay half interest rates on bonded indebtedness. Hon. Solon E. Low declared last week when the judgement of the Privy Council denying Alberta the power to legislate for interest cuts was handed down. Meantime, he stressed the refunding negotiations are proceeding.

Edmonton is already known as an inland shipbuilding center, will probably build a submarine next. Sir

CURLING CLUB HOLDS FIRST ONE DAY BONSPIEL

The Gleichen Curling club Monday staged their first one day bonspiel which proved to be a very successful affair. Starting bright and early in the morning the final game was finished near midnight. There were twenty links entered, one from Strathmore; one from Namska; two from Bassano; two from Cluny; two from Arrowwood and four from Gleichen.

Mr. Brown's rink of Gleichen won second prize having the second highest score of 30 points. The prize in this case was silverware.

The Sumner rink of Cluny came third with 30 points. As there was no third prize the Cluny players were out of luck.

The amazing delusion that the welfare of the people of any one nation could be enhanced by this country endeavoring to supply all its own needs by curtailing foreign imports, is quite modern.

The latest evidence about the help importance in which international trade was held by the ancients, I furnished in a recent biography—written by the eminent historian Mrs. Tabouli—of Nebuchadnezzar the great Chaldean king, who lived some 600 years before Christ. Nebuchadnezzar, we are told, told us, meaningly to bring about a great low into Babylon of the goods of India, Persia and Arabia, that is of gold, precious stones, tin, sandal wood, spices and cochineal dye—made the ladies of Babylon so loved—so to be exchanged for wheat, oil, wine, pottery, raffia, iron, bronze, purple cloths, the products of Chaldea.

"These exchanges" said the great King Nebuchadnezzar, "would make Babylon a city of merchants, and so the wealth of the world would be available to enrich the people of Chaldea." For encouraging the foreign trade King Nebuchadnezzar is remembered in a great market at which the wealth of the world could be exchanged, and where the resourcers and producers of the world could meet.

It is an old saying that a man has only one vote. But it is not so true as it is old. If there are more than two candidates in your constituency the saying is wrong. The fact that your secret choice may become a second vote. Why not use it? If you use that first choice, your second may mean that you, an elector in the province of Alberta, may still have a hand in the election by helping the man who has your next preference and who gives you the right. Use it—don't plump!

Mrs. Carl Sammons is home again after spending some 15 days in the hospital in Calgary. The Sammons ladies seem to be having a bit of bad luck lately as far as sickness is concerned.

Stand To!

The Queen Elizabeth, largest liner in the world reached safely of New York dock where she will likely remain until the end of the war. It is supposed the Nazis—would have sunk her if they could have made it but may not have tried very hard when they became aware there were no women and children aboard.

Mr. Communist propaganda has been plentiful in the form of pamphlets floating that the movement has not been suppressed. Under the British flag everyone has the privilege of airing his grievances but the avowed intention of the Reds is to destroy the government by force so why tolerate this organization. If Russia is such a swell place to live in why not round all the Reds and ship them back there.

Col. George Drew has solved a deep mystery by letting us know that the government paid sixty dollars for a manure pit in Vancouver. We always wondered where the political parties got the ammunition which they hurled at each other's heads before an election. Thanks, Col. Drew. It would be a good idea to lead a few members with this yardstick confetti and dump it over Bush along with the jeffs.

After four months of war there are still a large number of war veterans unemployed. The officers of the Legion went to considerable trouble to have the register completed when these men were asked to sign up and they deplore the fact that the efforts of help have been ignored and we hope that the present government or which ever one may be elected will take steps to have the situation remedied as soon as spring activities commence.

Col. Ralston made the statement that the first division went overseas completely equipped with kits, light for heavy machine guns and eighteen pounder field gun. We do not know how modern the other arms taken may have been but we do know that the eighteen pounder in Canada were obsolete by the end of the last war and that the field gun in use in the British army at the present time is a twenty-five pounder. However, a lot of this war argument is a great deal more political than constructive because neither government would have got very far during the past few years if they had not been dependent on the Canada that the public would have raised such a howl against the waste of money. Ever since the last war the militia has had a hard time to struggle along in the face of public opposition and have done a commendable job under severe handicaps.

THE SONG OF GOEBBELS

We're Nazis grand, from the Fatherland,
In the Siegfried line we take our stand,
We make our guns go boom,
And then we return to the home town,
And then we'll take our lebensraum,
Hippy-ki-ki-ay.

We're Nazis grand from the Fatherland,
We'll help when the Fuhrer lifts his hand,
We'll start a blitzkrieg when he tells us to,
We'll bomb a liner and shoot the crew
And kill the women and children too,
Hippy-ki-ki-ay.

We're Nazis grand from the Fatherland,
Our subs sink faster than they can be manned,
Gott strafe Churchill and his fleet as well,
We'll scuttle ours and go down to hell,
And forget old Chamberlain and his umbrella,

IN THE ANCIENT ROMAN EMPIRE

In 400 B.C. beer was popular with the Armenians, while during the first century of the Christian era the Germans and the natives of West Europe (Spain and Gaul) improved the process, and beer made from barley and malt was the popular drink. The Romans were also brewers of Beer. Barley was known to them says Virgil, who uses it in the plural form "hordeas". Beer and vinegar were the drinks of Caesar's soldiers.

Mr. and Mrs. Voter of Gleichen Provincial Constituency

Your own opportunity in four of five years to make a definite stand for economic democracy and social progress is now before you. The C.C.F. Provincial and Federal programs outline how this can be done.

To emancipate ourselves from the present economic statelet, nothing will suffice short of the return to the public for public control and operation of the natural resources of our country, plus the development of the co-operative philosophy until it reaches our whole national economy.

Former Social Creditors of New Zealand, seeing that Social Credit did not offer a sound way out, joined the farmer-labor party whose program is almost identical to our C.C.F. Movement in Canada and elected that government to office in 1935, and with still a larger majority again in 1938. New Zealanders are now enjoying prosperity. This now awaits your decision in Alberta and Canada.

Why Vote Independent? At its very best it is the old line parties dressed up under a new name for this occasion, which stands for the continuance of capitalism and exploitation of the farmer, laborer, small business man and consumer alike.

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation (C.C.F.) is the most honorable, just and Christian Movement I can conceive of.

Chemistry In Agriculture

The current year marks two events of more than passing interest and importance to the agricultural industry of Canada, for 1940 is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the chemical fertilizer industry in Great Britain, and January of this year brought to a close the life of Dr. Frank Thomas Shutt, C.B.E., who for nearly half a century, as Dominion chemist, labored to make available to the farmers of this country the benefits of higher yields and greater profits through the application of scientific fertilizing methods.

To date the use of chemical fertilizers has not been applied by Western Canadian farmers on a wide scale as a means of increasing yields of cereal crops, but a new factor has arisen which may serve as a stimulus to the utilization of chemicals to promote more rapid and vigorous growth and to increase yields. Reference is made to the fact that this year's grain crop in Canada is likely to be produced under conditions of greater demand due to the exigencies of war, always providing, of course, that the war does not collapse within the next year or two, a probability which appears to be somewhat remote at the time of writing.

Although comparatively few farmers in Western Canada are using chemicals on a considerable scale, it is now generally recognized that, under certain soil and climatic conditions, earlier maturity and greater yields can be induced by the judicious use of chemical fertilizers. The farmer, however, had to be something of a scientist himself, if he is to be able to secure the maximum benefit which may be derived from their application to the crops. For instance, he should know something of the chemical composition of the soil in which his crops are grown. He should know the constituents in which his soil is deficient, and should make a study of weather and moisture content conditions, so that he will know when it will be profitable to apply artificial stimulants to his grain and when it will not pay him to do so.

Value Is Variable

Practical farmers have found, for instance, that during dry years it does not pay to apply chemical fertilizers to the crops except in the earlier stages of their growth while there is sufficient spring moisture in the soil to render them readily soluble. At this stage, growth is hastened, resulting in earlier maturity. If drought continues throughout the growing season, farmers have found that later application does not further stimulate growth or increase yields, and in some cases they are actually a deterrent. This, it is believed, is due to the fertilizer remaining too concentrated to benefit the plant.

Students of agriculture learn that the complete fertilizer consists of three principal constituents—nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. Technical agriculturists recognize that, generally speaking, the soil in the northern half area of the three provinces is deficient in nitrogen and this lack is believed to be due to the leaching of the soil by rains. The principal deficiency in the southern areas of these provinces is said to be phosphorus, and the blame for lack of phosphorus is expressed in the belief that continuous cropping to cereals has exhausted the land of phosphates. These, of course are generalities and may vary greatly in individual districts and on individual farms, but the fact is that the nature of the soil, the use to which it has been put and the methods of farming which have been followed.

Great Strides Made

From Europe, in 1888, one year after he was appointed Dominion chemist, the late Mr. Shutt brought back to this country the discovery made in that year by Hilbrecht and Wulffarth of Bernburg, Saxony, that leguminous plants are able to extract nitrogen from the air, though the need of nitrogen in the soil to stimulate the growth of plants of other orders was recognized as long ago as 1795. It was in 1840, however, that Lawes discovered at Rothamsted, England, that superphosphates, which he produced by treating old bones with sulphuric acid, would stimulate the growth of turnips. Two years later he started the world's first fertilizer factory at Deptford, thus founding an industry which has been growing ever since.

As stated by Leonard L. Knott, in "The Oval", host of the Canadian Industries, Ltd.: "In 190 years the science of the soil travelled a long way. The modern farmer is no longer a haphazard tiller of the soil, dependent entirely upon grudging nature. In the laboratories of Great Britain, Europe and Canada scientific allies have been developed and are still being developed to aid his hardihood hands. In Canada, for instance, in the laboratories of C.I.C., scientific farming is an accepted fact. Industrial chemistry remains true to the land and modern soil chemists carry on the tasks set for them a century ago."

Sky Writer For Finland

Russians May Soon Be Hearing New Kind Of Propaganda

Finland will have a new propaganda of its disposal shortly. If the Finns want to make the Russians take notice, "Lucky" Newhouse's talents as a sky writer may come in handy.

Newhouse, christened Luke by his Dutch parents, has left Canada to join the Finnish air force. He takes with him 450 official hours in the air or about 1,000 unofficial count. He was down by the R.C.A.F. because of his eyes, the flying Dutchman offered his abilities to Finland. Montclair knows him for his sky-writing and he once operated a flying school. Recently he has been living in Toronto.

As a boy he lived near the German border. He remembers the post-war days when German officials were glad to sell their automatic pistols for a dollar. The result was an epidemic of armaments amongst the Dutch high school students. Travelling light, Newhouse expects to pick up his equipment somewhere in Scandinavia.

Allies Must Not Fail

Former President Of Czech-Slovakia Says Nazi Regime Must Go

Edvard Benes, former president of Czech-Slovakia, said that the Allies must not fail in their duty "merely to do away with the Nazi regime," for which the Germans "as a nation" must accept responsibility.

"There are millions of Germans who do not agree with Nazism, but history teaches us that every state and nation is responsible for its government," the exiled statesman said. "It is impossible to conceive international ethics in which a government destroyed its neighbors, robbed and plundered smaller nations, committed the worst crimes, killed hundreds and thousands of its opponents, and finally, when the arm of justice intervened and satisfaction and guarantees were demanded, the new government announced that only members of the former regime were responsible for everything, and that now everything was all right."

Benes said he "proudly acknowledged" the Czech-Slovakia's responsibility for what went on in the ill-fated central European country during the 20 years of its existence.

The former Czech president declared peace could be ensured only if it understood that freedom is indivisible. He called for a new system of European solidarity, including guaranteed freedom of the smaller central European states, federal units in the different parts of Europe, a re-created League of Nations and a new system of economic collaboration.

"Events show it was impossible to live at peace with Nazism," he said. "Czech-Slovakia made the terrible sacrifice which it to-day regards as its great and fateful task in this war."

Cree Indians In Manitoba Are Donating Furs As A Contribution

About six hundred Cree Indians living in the vicinity of Neelon, Manitoba, a remote trading post more than four hundred miles north of Winnipeg, are making their contributions to Canada's war effort in traditional style. Information received by the Indian Affairs Branch, the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, as to the manner in which these natives are conducting a drive in aid of the Red Cross reveals that each Indian has been asked to donate the pelt of a fur-bearing animal, even if only a squirrel or weasel. The furs collected in this manner will be sold to the traders, and the proceeds turned over to the Red Cross.

Deserves No Sympathy

Fritz Thyssen Exiled From Germany Gave Nazis Financial Support

If any tears must be shed over Fritz Thyssen, the German whose vast steel industry has been connected by the Nazis and is now a refugee in Switzerland, let them be all glycerine tears. Thyssen deserves none of the pity which the occasional soft-hearted and soft-headed person in Allied countries seems inclined to give him. Thyssen is a man who sowed the wind and reaped the whirlwind.

If the whirlwind he had a large share in starting affected only himself there might be reason to pity him, but the same whirlwind is the one that is affecting millions of nations and a persons of the world. Thyssen provided financial support for the Nazis at a time when the National Socialist Party would likely have collapsed without it. Thyssen was in the business of making death-dealing weapons at a time when the ordinary people of the world were demanding disarmament.

Thyssen was also having labor troubles at a time when the workmen of Germany were striving to secure an approximation of the employer-employee relations that exist in democratic countries. Thyssen saw in Hitler and his Nazis an opportunity to create a regime in Germany that would give him all the conditions which he selfishly desired. He was content with the Nazis regime while it was huddling and threatening small neighbors. His conversion to anti-Naziism did not occur until the still more ruthless Hitler and Goering robbed the ruthless Thyssen.

If as an exile Thyssen has any means or influence to hasten the overthrow of the Hitler regime it would be foolish of the Allies not to accept any genuine aid he can give, but there is no need to become sentimental about it. It will be time enough to do that when he proves that he has had a change of character as well as fortune—Kingston Whip-Standard.

Speech Read At Banquet

Was Prepared By Lord Tweedsmuir For Boy Scouts' Association

The last writings of Lord Tweedsmuir, Canada's late Governor-General, were read to the annual banquet of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada in Toronto. His Excellency was to address the banquet and his unfinished and uncorrected speech was sent to the association at the direction of Lady Tweedsmuir.

Canada's tremendous wartime air effort will place her "in the very forefront" of aeronautical development after the war and supply her with a potentially great peacetime asset in the form of a large body of trained airman. Lord Tweedsmuir predicted in his speech.

Lord Tweedsmuir suggested "linking of Scout training more closely with the practical problems which are facing our growing youth."

"We are giving our Scouts an admirable moral and physical discipline which is the true basis for a worthy and successful life," he wrote. "You cannot put the demands of that too high. The problems of youth are more difficult to-day than ever before, and they are not going to be easier when this war is over. Can we, while these boys are in our care, do more by advice and training to see that when they enter the grown-up world they will have a reasonable chance? Cannot we, while keeping in the forefront our moral and spiritual ideals, take pains to see that our Scouts, when they enter adult life, shall have a real chance to reap the fruit of their training, and shall not get into the wrong groove, or into blind alleys which lead to a dead wall?"

On March 21st Alberta will be in the scales. Did you ever stop to think that your vote might turn the balance? On March 21, you, a single voter, are the most important person in the province. The right is yours to be king for a day. More than a king for a king like no vote. And remember to use that second choice. If your candidate is not elected that second choice may mean that even then you had a hand in the future government of Alberta. Above all things—vote!

Keep Canada's War Effort United!

Experienced Leaders are

VITAL for VICTORY

In six months of war the Mackenzie King Administration has set an unprecedented record of getting things done without fuss and fury. Under its steady leadership, Canada has gone ahead on all fronts—war, economic and domestic. With clear heads and with feet on the ground, this group of purposeful men is making every ounce of Canada's weight felt in our fight for freedom. What it has done here has been done thoroughly; there has been no loose thinking; no half-measures; no waste of men, money or materials.

Some of the Mackenzie King Administration Wartime Accomplishments

It united Canada as never before. Every province is heart and soul behind the Empire's war effort this time, thanks to the Administration's truly national policies.

The First Division, completely equipped, has been sent overseas to a Mother country prepared to receive it.

The Second Division is recruited, equipped and ready to go over.

The great Empire Air Training Scheme—sponsored and mainly financed by Canada, has been launched on a planned and ordered basis.

Naval Defence for both East and West Canada, including Air Force, Mine Sweepers and Convoying, has functioned efficiently since the outbreak of War. Of it, a Senior British Naval Authority has said: "No finer work is being done anywhere by the Royal Navy."

Price Control of all commodities, including such vital necessities as wool and sugar, has been established, with prices pegged low for the poor man. The price is set, and will be kept low—no market control, the free-for-all of the last war.

Shipping Control and Foreign Exchange Control are firmly established on sound lines and are functioning smoothly and effectively.

A $250,000,000 War Loan was over-subscribed within two days of its launching, a record that proves public confidence. Its reasonable rate of 3½% contrasts with 5½% tax-free rate of the last war.

Political and Private Patronage has been stamped out; merit is the sole basis for selection or promotion in our armed forces.

On March 26th show your faith; vote for the Candidate supporting Mackenzie King and help make sure there can be no break in Canada's steadfast stand in these critical times.

FORWARD WITH MACKENZIE KING

The National Liberal Federation of Canada, Ottawa, Ontario.

Great Britain's war financing problems have been lessened through the co-operation of the Canadian Government.

War Contracts totalling well over $100,000,000 have been placed, stimulating every branch of Canadian industry.

Canadian employment has hit an all-time high owing to these orders and to good internal business conditions.

Armament deliveries are approaching full-speed: aeroplanes, Bren guns, tanks, artillery accessories, ships—all coming forward in impressive quantities.

Large purchases of Canadian wheat—preventing a serious wheat glut—have been arranged through a special mission sent to London by the Mackenzie King Administration. 5,600,000 pounds of bacon will be shipped to Great Britain each week, as well as large quantities of flour and fish.

Huge shipments of steel and other materials essential to the conduct of the war have been arranged for.

Make Your Vote Support Canadian Unity

Such a record simply didn't just happen. It resulted from the efforts of a strong administration working on behalf of a country united in all its parts as never before. And this singleness of purpose—conspicuously absent in 1914—is due to the vision, understanding and drive of individual Canadians and Empire-minded Statesmen who back the Empire's participation in the war with their eyes wide open and with full determination to play their parts to the full.

We appeal to the people of Canada for the support which is essential to carry on and complete a task, the groundwork for which has been laid carefully, soundly, wisely... with foresight, determination and resolute courage.
